

INVITATION to the Open Access Event 2018

Novel approaches in Open Science

22th October 2018 at 13:30 – 15:30 h

in Fuchs-Petrolub-Festsaal (O 138)

Open Access is a standard for scientific publishing, demanded by important research funders and pushed forward politically. Following that track implementing open data and open science are the next challenging tasks for researchers. We approach these topics in all its facets and hear about novel approaches such as open research software, replication studies, and preregistration studies, or diamond open access journals.
